Dear Mr. Miller:

We have recently gotten complaints about drums of industrial waste which had been dumped on property known as the Shulberger Estate located just off of Rt. 563 in Nockamixon Township, Bucks County.

I was at this location on December 31, 1979. There were several drums dumped on this property. Some were rotting out and the contents had spilled out. This condition violates Chapter 75.31 C (2) of our Rules and Regulations which states that hazardous material such as waste chemicals or empty chemical containers must be disposed of in a manner approved by this department. This condition also serves as potential ground water and surface water contamination.

According to a plan of the Shulberger Estate, Lot 6 belongs to you. Some of these drums appear to be on this lot. Arrangements must be made to remove all of these drums and their contents from this property within 30 days. This also includes any contaminated soil under and around these drums.

Contact me concerning a list of possible disposal sites.

Very truly yours,

Larry H. Lunsk
